

With the Batman trilogy winding down and Superman returning to theaters next summer, plans to put more of DC Comics' superheroes on the bigscreen are coming together nearly three years after Warner Bros. took back control of characters...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/warner-brothers-preps-jla_article_133324.html