

The “Big Two” get a lot of press but comics wouldn’t be what they are today without that other [roughly] 25% market share. Some of comics greatest books and characters were/are independently created and despite their volume they are the nuts and bolts that keep the industry fresh and original. From grimy noir or horror

Read more: <http://acomicbookblog.com/2012/01/favorite-independent-comic-books-of-2011/>