

Right around now, when most people are speculating on the year to come, I tend to reflect on the year that has passed. I think of opportunities missed (cross-country road trips) and those taken instead (law school). I think of people who have left my life and others who have entered it. And of course, [...]

Read more: <http://weeklycomicbookreview.com/2012/01/02/mqs-favorite-things-of-2011/>